A. J. YOLOFSKY

The firm's founder, A. J. YOLOFSKY developed a three-part "maneuver" strategy to effectively and efficiently reach client goals. "Our maneuver concept employs strategy and tactics to put the opposition into the 'horns of a dilemma,' forcing them to operate reactively to the tempo we set." A. J. YOLOFSKY combines more than twenty years of business, legal, and military experience to give clients the highest level of advice and counsel in business matters across the globe. By applying the principles of "maneuver litigation," which are based on the teachings of the Chinese master of strategy, Sun Tzu, the firm works to place the adversary into a position where they give up the fight. Our experience includes litigation in state and federal courts and before arbitral panels.

BRIAN HUNT

Brian Hunt is a trial lawyer with over twenty-five years' experience in civil litigation. Mr. Hunt is the managing principal of The Hunt Law Group, LLC, which was founded on the premise that -- whatever the type of case -- trial skills matter. We have the results to prove it. Our core philosophy is that trial-readiness achieves the best results, irrespective of whether the case does proceed to trial. Our practice encompasses: business litigation and the defense of corporations and individuals in the areas of tort and product defense, premises liability, professional liability litigation, construction liability, transportation and insurance coverage disputes. We represent the complex business concerns of sophisticated clients, especially when they need to communicate with a jury. THLG – Trial lawyers for business people.

CALIFORNIA SAN FRANCISCODAVID H. SCHWARTZ

David H. Schwartz and his firm focus on providing cost-effective, expeditious and results-driven legal service, representing businesses and individuals throughout California in a wide range of commercial disputes. David H. Schwartz has over 35 years of experience handling complex litigation involving securities and shareholder disputes, trade secret litigation, contract disputes, and business torts.

Business litigation is never simple, and it is never comfortable. It diverts attention from management priorities and growth opportunities, and it poses a significant risk to profitability. Complex disputes involving securities, business torts, trade secrets or other issues can tax your resources to the limit. In addition, onerous civil procedure rules and complex and voluminous discovery requirements can put confidential information at risk of disclosure to competitors and other third-parties.

In pre-trial activity, settlement negotiation, mediation, arbitration, trial, and at the appellate level, our focus is always on expeditious, cost-effective, net-positive resolutions. While we will be ready, willing, and thoroughly prepared to go to trial, we also will help you determine when it makes sense to negotiate, and we will strategize with you on how to obtain the best possible settlement.

We will provide you with personalized attention, prompt communication, and direct contact. David H. Schwartz will be personally involved with you throughout the litigation process.

Talk to us and see how we can provide you with the highest level of litigation skill at a cost substantially below what you will be charged at larger firms.

Your success in litigation, upon which the survival of your business may depend, requires the focused attention of an experienced business litigation attorney.

David H. Schwartz has that experience and will apply it to your case.
